Remembering

In the rising of the sun and in its going down, we remember her.
In the blowing of the wind and in the chill of winter, we remember her.
In the opening buds and in the warmth of summer, we remember her.
In the rustling of leaves and the beauty of autumn, we remember her.
In the beginning of the year and when it ends, we remember her.
When we are weary and in need of strength, we remember her.
When we are lost and sick at heart, we remember her.
When we have joys we yearn to share, we remember her.
So long as we live, she too shall live, for she is now a part of us as we remember her.

The one thing that gets me through the quarantine is my dog, Barney! He needs me to feed him, take him outside and to love him! He's a little guy, but he's all love!

I show sunshine each day by starting with prayer, calling to check on family and friends, making sure that seniors and neighbors are o.k., and spending time with my husband. Also, I have been surprising my granddaughter with different things to make her smile. She is a senior this year.

Before we had to stay home I always felt guilty for leaving my husband alone when I had all the activities at church and when I was home with him I felt guilty I wasn't doing more for the church. Yea! Now I get to stay home with my hubby and no guilt trip. 😊😊

Working with the future educators at Hocking College has been worth every minute. They have taken an adverse situation as a challenge and worked with me to continue their education in our new virtual setting. Twelve of them will graduate next week.

Sharon Elder

The only thing getting me through this mess is seeing my students on Zoom once a week and baking desserts twice a week for the Foundation.

Jane Meese

One thing that keeps me going, believe it or not, is almost daily emails or phone calls with women I work with on our DKQ state-wide Educational Foundation (Alpha Delta State Ohio Educational Foundation). My involvement is lots of research, which I don't mind, and working with others to "get it right". I'm working on policies and fundraising.

Almost every day, I leave my house and go for a hike somewhere in the county. They are usually no longer than 5 to 7 miles since it is after school hours. I need to stretch my legs and get some exercise after sitting at the computer for most of the day answering emails and calling students. The beauty of where we live is inspiring!

I have also been delivering art supplies to my students wherever they live in the county. I use a mask, gloves, hand sanitizer and we maintain the required 6 feet. I've developed a system that is working well. I stocked my SUV with markers, colored pencils, paper, paint, erasers, sharpeners, glue & construction paper on Friday the 13th. My 4runner is now a mobile art supply storage room! Getting to see my students in person and talk with them and their parents even through masks has been a good experience. They have all been so kind and supportive. If they are an Advanced Art 8 student, I photograph their art work in their front yard for an exhibit we are planning. This pandemic crisis has required all of us to be a bit more creative with what we do and how we do it.

Along with wading through this time with the LHS senior class of 2020, I've cherished the time I've had with both of my college age kiddos home for the time being. Celebrating the accomplishments of my own 2020 grad from Ohio University). Embracing and enjoying my family time....good talk, good cooking, good times together. Slowing down:)

Like many, I'm waiting patiently for hair salons to open to get my hair cut. I think I have 5 pounds of extra hair (if only).

During this time I've been learning about the workings of Google Classroom since my grandson's class is part of the pilot. I've also been working on making cards using quilling. I took a class a while ago, so I'm finally sitting down to experiment with that technique.

Sure miss everyone!

Getting ready to return to the North Country after "Sheltering in Place" in The Villages, where beautiful sunshine greets me most mornings as I open my door! So proud of my resourcefulness! I have become a barber, beautician & hair stylist, dog groomer, quilter, home design decorator, golf cart & car detail cleaning specialist, snake charmer, palm tree trimmer & a few carpentry, plumbing & electrical projects! Can't wait to start my container gardening when I return to Logan & settle in safely with my hometown people.

Paula Tucker

My little dog, Jada and Ed's good cooking gets me through each shelter at home day.

Laurie Cummings

I just keep reminding myself that I am not alone (everyone is dealing with the self-isolation and social distancing right now) and I still have lots to be grateful for. I have also been able to reconnect with friends and family that do not live in this area through video conferencing.

Mindy Travis

Google hangouts with my students has kept me going during this difficult time. Even though only a few students attend those few help keep my spirits up!

Michele Maniskas

The joy my grandson brings to my days has gotten me through! I am watching him daily. In addition, Google Hangouts with my students are precious! We have different themes (like share your pets) and even learned some new material.

Crystal Cole

On a school note, I've had some sunshine by writing letters to my students and then they write back to me, sometimes with pictures added.

On a personal note, I've worked in the yard, planted flowers, enjoyed the spring bushes blooming, and seeing the hummingbirds return.

Have a wonderful summer!
